(By Havas Agency)

Vienna March 6—The result (nearly complete) of the legislative elections in Bohemia for the Austrian Reichsrath is as follows :—3 Czechs of the old party, 28 Czechs of the new party, and 25 Germans.

Lisbon, March 6th.—The King and Queen of Portugal paid a visit yesterday to the French naval squadron now in this port.

Sr. Antonio de Azevedo has been appointed President of the Chamber of Deputies.

Bukarest, March 6th.—A new Cabinet has been organized with General Floresco, ex-Minister of War es Premier.

FORCED CURRENCY.

The Nacion of yesterday contains a series of arguments, without any protest, for the adoption of a measure, with retroactive effect, whereby the Government would give the shinplasters now in circulation a value of 24 pence for the payment of all obligations in gold. It may be asked why the figure of 24 pence has been chosen, since with equal justice the Nacion might have recommended 48 pence.

Those persons who borrowed in gold voluntarily incurred the risk of a rise or fall in the precious metal, and have no right now to claim to discharge their debts at 50 per cent. It would be just as reasonable to make a law that all persons whose debts are in paper-money may pay the same at 50 per cent. The State-banks have a perfect right to offer a bonus of this kind, both as regards debtors in gold and debtors in paper, in order to get in some of the millions that are due to them: they can do so without any serious prejudice to the public. But any attempt to interfere in private obligations would throw the market into much greater confusion than at present, and produce numberless bankruptcies

When Gen. Roca suspended specie payments, in January 1885, he might have declared "curso forzoso" in its full extent by making the Argentine paper-dollar a legal tender at 48 pence for all obligations in gold or paper. Other countries, such as England, France and the U. States, had done the same. But he wisely determined to except all transactions in gold; and public opinion emphatically approved his policy. Had he given "curso forzoso" to the bankrupt currency, by declaring it legal tender at 48 pence it would have involved a loss of 7 per cent on all creditors in gold.

At present we are threatened with Curso Forzoso at 24 pence, whereas the rate of exchange is under 13 pence, and this would involve a loss of nearly 50 per cent to creditors, which nothing could justify. It would be much simpler and quite as equitable for the Government to issue a decree in these words :—

Whereas the present distressful condition of affairs places all debtors in a very difficult position, it is hereby decreed as follows—

1st—All debtors may pay off their obligations, whether in gold or paper, at 50 per cent of their written value.

2nd—From this date all contracts in gold shall be illegal, and no currency recognised but the ordinary paper money of the Republic.

The proposed scheme of Curso Forzoso would enable debtors in gold to wipe out 50 per cent of their obligations without any corresponding benefit to the unfortunate persons who owe in paper. It would be nothing short of spoliation.

Whatever troubles we may have to surmount they are not to be overcome by a law of this description. It would be infinitely worse than a new emission of shinplasters, and if we had to choose between two calamities we should not hesitate a moment in saying that the latter would be preferable.

Curso Forzoso is the one thing wanted to damn the Argentine Republic irretrievably.

THE CRISIS BEGINS.

We have been for some time trying to impress on our readers that the crisis had not begun, that is the acute phase of it. It is now upon us at last, and it is more than ever necessary for people to keep their heads cool, and be surprised at nothing. The Government, with the best possible intention, has suspended all business till next Monday, but we are of opinion that this measure has increased the alarm. Of course it is to be supposed that before Monday a decree will be issued or a scheme adopted, which in the wisdom of our rulers will be most adequate to cope with so critical a conjuncture.

At foot we give the opinions of some of the principal papers. Meantime the public is alarmed, and it is feared that any of the following measures may be resolved upon, compelling the retirement of the actual Finance Minister.

1st. Curzo Forzoso with retro-active effect, compelling all creditors in gold to receive shin-plasters at 24 pence.

2nd. A fresh issue of 100 million shinplasters.

3rd. An internal loan by the bankers and merchants.

We quote first from the Nacion, as follows :—

"Crisis of the crisis. Forced holidays. Hopes and fears.

"It is no secret that since last Monday the Government has been alarmed at the downward march of affairs and endeavored to devise some remedy. There was some idea of an interval loan, but nothing could be resolved upon, and the market grew worse.

"At last the Government resolved, as in the decree at foot, to suspend all business in Buenos Ayres until Monday, by which time some steps will be taken.

"When Mr. Uriburu, chairman of the Bolsa, waited on the Government both President Pellegrini and the Finance Minister declared themselves opposed to a fresh issue of shin-plasters.

"Up to midnight nothing had been arranged about the proposed internal loan for 20 millions.

"The project of fusing the National Bank and the Provincial Bank into one is impracticable, although the idea has been seriously taken up by some journals.

"There is also talk of Curzo Forzoso on a basis of 24 pence per shinplaster, to enable people who owe in gold to discharge their debts more easily."

The Prensa has the following:—

"The situation has not improved ; gold is going up, and public alarm increases.

"Yesterday there was a conference of two hours' duration between the Finance Minister and the Board of the Bolsa, the latter including Messrs. Uriburu, Lanus, Mendez, Morales, Lermond, Arrue, Becú and Garcia. These gentlemen pointed out to His Excellency that things grew worse daily, and offered their assistance to mend matters.

"The first proposal was a Patriotic Loan, but it was thought necessary to consult a larger number of persons, and the proposal dropped. It was resolved, however, to convoke a general meeting for to-day Friday, at 2 p.m., and to invite the principal bankers, merchants and property-owners. One of the gentlemen present suggested that the Government ought to put a stop to all intrigues and machinations in the Upper Provinces with regard to the coming Presidential election."

HOLIDAYS.

It was a happy thought of the National Government to declare the 6th and 7th March public holidays. After 6 years of crisis, that is of monetary and financial disturbance, the public was so thoroughly worn out that a general suspension of business was most desirable. Some people think that it would have been better if the "feria" were for 6 months. At the end of that period the commerce of Buenos Ayres, as after a long sleep, would have revived, and nobody would be the poorer.

In Europe this plan of "suspending" business for 48 hours has not yet been tried, but there are some things that Europe has yet to learn from Spanish America. It follows that if a suspension or "feria" of 48 hours be good, one of 90 days would be a blessing of the greatest magnitude. Half the troubles that beset daily life may be put off in this manner. Still we regret to think that people in Europe will not only refuse to accept this mode of solving a financial crisis, but even say that we are a pack of fools.

When the run occurred on Baring Brothers it would have been easy enough for Lord Salisbury to have decreed a national holiday for 30 days, and to have recommended all the inhabitants of London to go to Brighton or Margate for that interval. But, there is in England a fixed idea that the Government has no right to interfere with the ordinary course of trade. It is quite possible that if Lord Salisbury attempted any measure of the kind the House of Commons would have sent him to the Tower, and his head would have been in jeopardy.

This is, however, an "exceptional country," and it is impossible to praise too highly the wisdom of the Argentine Government in stopping all business for three days. Reflection is much needed in a country where affairs have been brought to so tremendous a crisis. Give us 3 days to reflect upon the errors of the past six years, and perhaps we may find a solution.

MEETING IN THE BOLSA.

MERCHANTS AND BANKERS.

PATRIOTIC LOAN.

EXCITEMENT ON 'CHANGE.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO INTERVIEW GOVERNMENT.

The meeting called by the Camara Sindical to-day was so numerously attended that the brokers and merchants who arrived late were forced to crowd the doorways of the Bolsa Reading Room, in which the meeting was held, and even to watch the proceedings from the adjoining rooms. Commercial circles were strongly represented. Brokers, too, were numerous, and the importance attached to the meeting can be gauged from the fact that although it began at two and did not close till nearly 5 p.m., the Bolsa was so crowded at the this hour by parties waiting to hear the result, that those leaving took some time to get to the doorway.

Mr. Uriburu, president of the Camara Sindical, opened the proceedings by stating briefly the object the Chamber had in view in calling the meeting, and this he did in such clear and vigorous language that everyone present soon grasped the drift of his meaning. He dwelt upon the state of the country financially and economically, and stated that in the present emergency the Government was compelled to look to the market for help, being resolved at all hazards to avoid resorting to such fatal palliatives as fresh emissions or "curso forzoso." This assurance was received with the utmost satisfaction by all present, and if the advocates of fresh paper were only present to-day at the meeting they would have seen how bitterly opposed the market in its soundest elements is to all such measures. Mr. Uriburu then went on to point out that, although the Government was determined to do all in its power rather than have recourse to emission, it might turn out that circumstances were too powerful to be controlled, and it was to avert this that the idea of a patriotic loan was started. If the latter proved a success the market might rest assured that there would be no further tax on its fortune, public or private, and above all no such terrible legacy for the country as a further supply of depreciated and depreciating paper. Confidence, Mr. Uriburu said, will lighten the tax, and if all lend a hand the task will be far inferior to what is generally supposed.

Mr. Uriburu's splendid speech, enthusiastic and logical to the case, and above all clear and convincing, was heartily applauded. Messrs. Stoppani, Anderson, Heriot, Seeber, Paats, Tornquist, Correa Morales and Franzoni all then spoke in turn, as also Mr Demarchi, at whose invitation it was agreed to keep the details of what was said in reserve in order not to give room for any mistaken apprehensions

For this reason we are unable to go even superficially into what was said, or to give in extenso the splendid speech of Mr. Uriburu, one of the ablest and solemnest appeals ever made even within the precincts of the Bolsa. It was, however, declared by unanimity that the market was eager and prepared to help the Government, after which a committee was named to confer with the Government on the head, with a view to seeing the requirements and to make calculations.

The committee is composed of

Mr. Uriburu.
" Anderson.
" Paats.
" Maupas.
" Aguirre.
" Tornquist.
" Correa Morales.
" Cañas.
" Bowen.
" De Bruyn.

FAILURE OF THE CROPS IN NAPOSTA.

DISSOLUTION OF THE COLONY.

As if the very elements of nature were opposed to the Viticola Company, the crops which at first promised so well, have been almost entirely lost through the heavy rains in December last. The best machinery that Messrs. Drysdale's firm could supply had been purchased, but the stalk of the wheat was so much shorter than that known to North American and European farmers that in many cases the ear was seriously injured in the cutting and binding ; while on the few chacras the crop was too light to pay for the gathering. And this, when in November last it was confidently hoped that the surplus yield would freight ten to twelve ocean steamers. It may be said with truth that all enterprises of this kind are subject to the same "contratiempos" and that the colonists should not lose heart at one or two years' failure ; the Chubut settlement, now so flourishing, had to fight against tremendous odds during ten years or more, and had the brave Welshmen moved elsewhere they might still be poor and struggling.

But unfortunately the loss of the crops is not the only difficulty of the present situation ; the rise in the price of provisions being the real hitch. Mr. Gartland and his partners are heavy losers in this way, having fed the colonists all last year at the original rates laid down in their contract, whilst every head of a family must very well know tea and sugar have almost quadrupled in price. Nor have any complaints ever come from the colonists on this head, whilst from time to time differences and questions have been publicly recorded on almost every other matter.

Things have now come to such a pass that the company can no longer supply more than meat and bread, and even this will have to be discontinued if the petition of the Viticola Company, at present before the board of one of the private banks, be not immediately conceded. Messrs Gartland offer ample guarantee, but, owing to the crisis, we greatly fear there is no chance of the loan being effected, wherefore it behooves the British public, who came forward before so generously on behalf of our poor countrymen to know, without further delay, that another effort is necessery to save these poor people from starvation.

This can be easily achieved by our friends, the estancieros, taking one or two families each. They are all strong, healthy and willing to work, and far from being a burden should be a positive acquisition to any of our wealthy country readers. Father Adrian, who is at present in the colony, can supply exact advices of the condition of each family, the number and age of the children etc. Surely our friends in the camp will be equal to the occasion, otherwise there is no predicting what may be the fate of these 80 or 90 families.

Mr. John Drysdale, the president of the Immigrants' Aid Committee or Her British Majesty's Consul will be happy to receive offers for the placing of one or more families, the charges for transmission to any part of the camp being defrayed by the British and American Benevolent Society.

LONDON LETTER.

THE LAST OF THE SILLY SEASON.

(From our own Correspondent)

Jan. 21

The Times announces that an important step has been taken by the Argentine Committee towards arriving at a final settlement of the interest of Baring Brothers in the Buenos Ayres Water Supply and Drainage Works. It appears that the Argentine Government were not entirely satisfied with the way in which the contract for the works had been carried out. Dr. Plaza accordingly received instructions to negotiate with the Committee for the retention by the Argentine Government of control over a certain proportion of the bonds agreed to be handed over by way of annuity, in lieu of the Committee collecting the water rate for themselves. This matter, although not yet definitely settled, is now in a fair way of arrangement.

The market for South American securities, you will have heard, has been slightly disturbed by rumours of difficulties in certain financial houses interested in Brazilian bonds. The houses mentioned included some in the list supposed to be jeopardized during the Baring crisis. Brazilian stocks fell heavily for a few hours; but confidence was restored by the rumours not being confirmed and the receipt of a telegram from Señor Ruy Barbosa stating that the panic in Brazilian stock was, according to a telegram received in Rio from London, the result of a report of a new issue of currency upon railway debentures. This, said the Minister of Finance, was absolutely false and absurd, and simply inventions of enemies of the Republic. He authorized the Brazilian Treasury delegate in London to categorically contradict the rumours. The market was in consequence firmer yesterday, and Brazilian stock recovered some portion of the severe fall of the previous day. The Times of this morning still reports the market as very sensitive. The public is very shy of investments, excepting in standard securities. The rumours that preceded the Baring collapse, their contradiction by the Times itself and their subsequent confirmation, make people suspicious of contradictions, "categorical" or otherwise. Cedulas, however, and Argentine 1886 loan rose ¼. Brazilians rose 1½. Some of the smaller financial papers are making copy out of the lugubrious accounts of Uruguay finance supplied by the Montevideo Times. The abundance of cheap money in the London market, coupled with fair Board of Trade returns, and considerable activity in the iron, steel and shipbuilding trades, induces many to scrutinise the general financial system ruling here, and which some think to be unnecessarily delicate. It is not clear why in times like the present, when business is generally prosperous, the fall of an important house or the straits of a South American Government should endanger the whole fabric. In a recent letter I quoted an article from the St. James's Gazette on the present relations of the State with the Bank of England. This morning we are led to expect that the subject will be mentioned in the Queen's Speech to-morrow, and that Mr. Goschen, at the suggestion of Lord Salisbury, is meditating a reform, either of the bank charter or of present regulations in regard to the management of State funds. The subject of one pound notes is again mentioned as part of Mr. Goschen's scheme.

Contemporaneously with the opening of parliament we shall have the result of the Hartlepool election now proceeding. The Liberals are not very sanguine of success against the Unionist Candidate, Sir William Gray, a local benefactor and employer of labour. His return will be a new feather in the Unionist camp, which it is very difficult to separate from that of the Conservative party now nominally in power. It is indeed a proof of the absurdity of the existing situation that Sir William Gray is a middle class man who a few years since would have been called a Radical; and the good man in his way perhaps is a Radical, having pious opinions about the integrity of the empire, and adultery. Once shut up in the House of Commons we shall hear no more of him. The winter silly season, the harvest of common-place people, closes to-day with three columns and a bittoch of small print in the Times from Mr Arthur on the impiety of Home Rulers and the saving righteousness of "linen, cloths, yarns, stuffs, chemicals and so on." Writing serenely from an Italian pleasance the dear old "trapo" monger accuses the other mongers, liars and slanderers of wanting to "beggar linen" and of inciting the Americans to put a duty of 100 per cent on Belfast goods, so as to dish Colonel Saunderson and his respectable constituency. Setting aside Buckle, who is a mere dummy, it is a matter of surprise that Mr Moberly Bell, who has really improved the Times lately, should admit three columns of such twaddle. Better to have filled up with a translation of the newly discovered "Constitution of Athens" by Aristotle, which our paid servants the authorities at the British Museum sent to the Times only, as the one organ of truth and respectability: a character it earned by telling us last week that His Grace the Duke of Bedford had caught cold and after a short illness expired, the real truth being, as we all know to-day, that the duke shot himself. The obscurantism which seems necessary to the garb of respectability is perilously near to disguise and masquerading.

According to both the Times and Daily News the railway strike in Scotland is drawing to a close. The men will be unable to hold out beyond the end of the week, in spite of liberal contributions from the English Unions.

Instead of 9 feet of snow predicted from America we have nearly had 9 feet of water. A rapid thaw followed by a storm of wind and rain set in yesterday. In County Clare the storm was furious and destroyed much property.

Irish and general political affairs I postpone till Saturday, when we shall know more about the position.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris, Feb. 7.

Connected with the pending revision of the Customs tariffs, M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, made a significant statement. He estimates the augmentation in the revenue, consequent upon the new and augmented import duties, at 80 million fr. This avowal is the more important as M. Rouvier passes for a free-trader, and the revised tariff is evidently protectionist. Naturally, the protectionists are elated at this admission, the more so as the Minister stated that the surplus has been computed after a profound examination of the contemplated changes in all their bearings.

The free-traders—a staff without an army—have now nothing to do but to throw up the sponge. Their resistance during the debates in the Chamber will be only a fight for the honour of the flag ; whether their pleading be true or heretical, they cannot cope with the two maxims that have sunk deep into the very soul of commercial France : minimum tariffs in exchange for minimum tariffs, and the maximum or prohibitive against reciprocal prohibition. Sigh for sigh, or eye for eye. This implies a confidence in France being able to find an outlet for her surplus manufactures—the moiety of her total out-put ; if she succeeds and simultaneously swells the annual volume of her transactions, the protectionists will have carried the day.

There is one change coming over the commercial and industrial world of this country, and which is not brought sufficiently before the foot-lights ; I mean the increasing tendency of old France to establish itself in foreign parts, where, up to the present, only English, German and American traders resided. In other words, French commercial houses now train and equip the sons of members of their firms to establish and conduct branches of the parent house and to replace representatives of other nationality than French. Thus the stick-at-homeism, which to the present has been so inimical to the expansion of French commerce, is breaking up, and, in addition, French traders and "industriels" at last recognise the truth that they must go and seek and ferret out the purchaser and consumer, instead of sitting in their offices, in a kind of Buddhist contemplatiseness, expecting them to drop in. Coupled with this salutary recognition of modernism, is its complement—the necessity of contentment with less robust profits than formerly.

It is perhaps a coincidence, but the fact is not the less true, that the commercial and industrial revival of France, to which I allude, correspondends with the completion of her military — and in a sense naval—organization. However, the new departure has not yet visibly extended in what is understood as the colonial sense—to the new African and Indo-Chinese "takes"—of France. It is to be hoped that in time development will also trend in this direction, for the world's advance can only be benefited by France striking in with the other quick marchers. The Superior Council for the colonies, of which M. Jules Ferry is the soul, is doing good work in the way of codifying and framing organic measures for the constitution and working of the entire colonial system of France. Simultaneous with the framing of these schemes, the military and naval authorities are occupied with the creation of the new colonial army. Respecting French Africa the territories will be sub-divisioned and conceded to quasi-official companies that will provide the capital, while the grand lines of their action and the nomination of the Civic-Military Governors will remain subordinate to the State. It is said that two of these companies contemplate peopling their concessions with niggers from the Southern States of America, and that the Washington Government will not only not oppose a Black Exodus, but is prepared to assist the emigrants to establish themselves on free land grants in Senegambia, the Niger and the Congo. It will be made a "sine qua non" that the niggers must become naturalised French citizens. There looks to be a "boom" in store for the colonies of France, if Frenchmen take the tide at the flood.

The Comte de Mun is the representative of Christian against Materialistic Socialism. He has opened the ball with respect to Labor Legislation by his motion that no woman pending her accouchement-month shall be allowed to work in any factory, etc. The parliament has already handled the question of woman and child labor in mines, as well as over brain-pressure in the case of "sweet girl graduates." The Comte's proposition was declared humane and nobly generous. A materialist deputy paid his tribute to philanthropy also ; but he dished it by the rider that the Government should grant mothers one franc per day to enable the woman and her child to live. Since the State prohibits her from earning her living, it must accord her, not charity, but a "maternity indemnity" of one franc a day. Also, in all cases where the State arbitrarily suspends the wage-earning power of a citizen, the latter must not be reduced to starvation by humane legislation. The Minister of Finance nearly went into hysterics at the idea of swamping his budget, already weighed down by eighty million francs of reductions and deficits. Ultimately, Comte de Mun withdrew his motion ; a socialist took it up, pressed it to a division, when it was rejected. The next labor article will be the thorny one of fixing a maximum number of working hours per day.

The French are glad at the fall of Signor Crispi, and equally so that a new premier has been found to replace him. But it would be wrong to conclude that the Italian, no more than the German Bismarck, is played out. The new Italian Cabinet does not dream of withdrawing the nation from the triple alliance, and the French, while desiring its disruption, would labor under a delusion if they expected to see it realized. If M. di Rudini can pull softly with France, and rub the French down the grain, he might be able to unite the peoples commercially, and mutual money-making, that is the policy of interests, would shunt the irritation of the triple alliance aside. Perhaps the most momentous political incident is the visit of the Archduke of Austria to the Emperor of Russia. The estrangement between the two empires presented really nothing to oppose their reconciliation. The case is different regarding Germany and France, where the struggle for supremacy in Europe can only be decided by again washing the swords in blood.

A singular official book has been published, and for the first time in a "blue cover." This Blue Book is the parliamentary biography and history of each deputy during the expired Session. Under the name of each deputy is recorded his attendance at Seances and on committees; his votes and their nature, and a resume of not only his speeches but of his interruptions when the latter connect with an expression of opinion. "You were asleep, Monsieur," said an author to Samson who was reading his play before the committee of actors at the Theatre Francais, "and so could not judge of the merits." "You forget, Monsieur, that sleep is an opinion" was the retort of the artiste.

Meissonier, after life's fitful fever, sleeps well, in the quiet grave-yard of the modest village of Poissy, where he had his summer residence—in fact his studio, for he only came to his town house to receive visitors, clients, and business persons The obsequies were celebrated at the Madeleine church with full choral accompaniment; upwards of 5,000 persons were present. The adieu-orations were brief, full of glory allusions, and apropos.

Society has been rid of that concrete scoundrel, Eyraud. The secrecy and swiftness of his execution reflect credit on the authorities. The human brute grossly rejected the spiritual consolations of the prison Abbé, and frightened the worthy priest by his menacing looks.

ARGENTINE FINANCE.

To the Editor of the Economist.

Sir,

I read with much interest the able treatment of the above subject in your last issue. There is, however, one aspect of the case that was lost sight of. I refer to the increased profits which have been reaped by all growers of produce through the depreciated currency, and which must have been present to the minds of the Government when they included in their list of new imposts the taxes on produce for export—a justifiable proceeding, I think, when the facts are fully realized. A large proportion of the farmers rent their farms, and probably 95 per cent of these have leases on a rental payable in paper currency. The depreciation of the paper currency results in a great saving to the farmer, because all his produce that is sold for export—and most of it is so—is sold on a gold basis, while his rent and wages and many of his other expenses are met with paper currency. One farmer whose estate I visited some months since, and who rents about eight leagues of land, admitted to me that through the depreciation in the paper currency, he was saving from £2,000 to £3,000 per annum in rent alone, and a further sum in wages which are all paid in paper. The owner of the land suffers greatly by this depreciation, and it would be a manifest injustice to him if the produce escaped its share in the necessary increase in taxation, and still further if the land tax, "contribucion directa", had, as was feared, to bear the burthen of a further augmentation.

It is surely a correct principle that those who have benefited by the financial crisis should, at least temporarily, be brought to contribute to the relief of the present insolvent condition of the country ; and though your argument that "the duty upon exports seems misjudged, because it is with her exports that Argentina must pay her foreign indebtedness, and the export trade, therefore, ought rather to be stimulated than hampered," may be sound as a principle of political economy, and applicable, for instance, to the sister Confederation of Uruguay, where rents, wages, and produce alike are dealt with on a gold basis ; it cannot be counted a hardship in the Argentine Confederation that the farmer, whether he rent or own his land, should yield a small percentage of the exceptional profits he has been reaping during the last two or three years. Neither can it be said that a country practically without manufactures and mines, and wholly dependent on pastoral developments, is hindered in its progress by these taxes on exports when the producers of its only source of wealth stand almost alone in the increase of profits from a depreciated currency, while landowners, importers, tradesmen, clerks, and workmen all suffer, as they one and all have done from the same case.

Yours faithfully,
H. B. Wyatt.
Liverpool, January 28th, 1801.

THE REVOLUTION IN THE ARGENTINA.

The important part which the Argentine crisis played in our late financial troubles will cause many people to turn with interest to Mr Alfred Ebelot's graphic account of the Revolution in Buenos Ayres contributed to the Revue des Deux Mondes for December.

The paper is too long and too full of matter new to the ordinary European reader to summarise entirely. Dr. Miguel Juarez Celman became President. His party also underwent a change of name. He declared that there was but one party, which was his, and his followers became known as the "Unconditionals." They had need to make few conditions with their consciences in the road along which M. Ebelot describes them as passing. The maxim of the party, according to him, was simply that "to govern is to take." President Celman had "a taste for receiving presents which was nothing short of comic." On one of his birthdays a provincial governor who desired certain privileges was not afraid to make him a present of land which had cost a million and a half of francs ; nor was the President ashamed to accept. And "like master, like man," the rest of the officials followed suit until all sense of the value of money was lost. The description which follows in detail of the manner in which public works were sold, banks founded, and land mortgage companies encouraged, will be anything but agreeable reading for any holder of Argentine Stock. A couple of pages are devoted to the manner in which money was raised through the famous Cedulas. The system of Cedulas was well conceived, and might have rendered great public service in a new country like Argentina. It was, briefly, a system of advancing money on mortgage to landowners who were supposed to use it for the purpose of putting their land into a fit state to be cultivated in small lots. The lots were to be cultivated by individuals who should gradually pay the mortgage and acquire the freehold. As each individual paid his mortgage, the landowner was to redeem this stock which bore a corresponding letter. The lender of the money was the Provincial Mortgage Bank of Buenos Ayres. The holders of the stock were, unfortunately for themselves, the investors, and, it must also frankly be admitted, the speculators of Europe. At first the working of the scheme was genuine and the effect beneficial, but the opportunities were too tempting to be neglected. Marshes, quicksands, every sort of valueless land was soon figuring as security for advances in the public market. With sufficient interest at headquarters advances could be made on anything or nothing. Having pocketed the money the original parties to the contract "disposed of their interest" to some man of straw and there was an end to the transaction. There was no further question of interest or principal.

For President Celman the financial system which he tolerated has resulted, according to M. Ebelot's computation, in a fortune which is variously estimated at from two hundred to three hundred millions of francs.—Review of Reviews.

A MINIATURE COLONY.

Governor Kerr, of the Falkland Islands, in his report to the Foreign Office, states that the condition of the colony was in every respect prosperous during the year 1889. The value of the exports exceeded that of any previous record by upwards of £7,000, being £116,102. The highest previous record was that of the year 1886, which was £108,946, an exceptional year, in which the exports were increased to the amount of £15,070 by the exportation of frozen mutton, an enterprise which also added £13,882 to the exports of 1887, and then collapsed, from injudicious management. The value of the wool exported in 1889 was £100,540, or £23,266 more than the average of the five years immediately preceding. An agreement was entered into during the year between a number of the sheep farmers and a mercantile house in London for the revival of the export of frozen mutton, which will come into operation with every prospect of a successful issue. An experiment was tried in 1889, in carrying live sheep from the colony to the London market. The steamer Schleswig took on board from Mr. Felton's sheep station at San Salvador, in the East Falkland Island, 2,278 live sheep, and sailed on the 26th of March, and after stopping at Saint Vincent to coal arrived at Deptford on April 27th, but as the necessary sanitary certificate had not been procured at the Falkland Islands the vessel was not allowed to take the sheep to London. They were killed at Deptford. It was found that 236 had died during the voyage, and that the survivors had lost weight on an average of 14lb. each. They were purchased in the Falklands for 9s. each and the carcases sold for 30s. each, which was considerably less than they would have been worth had they been taken alive to the London market. It is not known whether or not there is any probability of the experiment being repeated. On the whole the prosperity of the colony, if tested by the value of its exports in comparison with the number of its inhabitants, is unequalled in any of Her Majesty's possessions, as it represents a sum of £50 per capitum in produce, unaided by manufacture. The well-being of the inhabitants is evidenced by the fact that the sums deposited in the Government Savings Bank average £9 per capitum. The winter of 1880 was protracted and the spring was late and wet, but the sheep were healthier, and there was less disease, especially among the lambs, than for several previous years. The clip of wool was heavy, and there was every prospect of continued increasing prosperity. There was no case for hearing in the Supreme Court either on the civil or criminal side during 1889. The court has been practically closed since 1887.—Globe.

Railway Items.

Mr N Bouwer, in behalf of the Central Argentine Railway, has submitted to Government for approval the plans of the proposed siding between San Marcos and Bell-ville. The siding is intended to facilitate the carriage of timber.

The Finance-Office is prepared to pay the guarantee due on the Cordoba Central: £79,365 1s 7d.

Mr Philip Knee, who represents the Gran Nacional Tramway, is at present engaged in obtaining copies of the deeds of purchase of the many valuable properties held by the company in the city.

We take the following items from the Rio News—

A decree again extends the time for the Pelotas and Colonies Railway Company, Limited, to inaugurate its labours. This time the extension is to May 11th.

The Minister of Agriculture refused to allow the claim of the Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro Railway Company for interest from July 1st to September 1st, 1890, on the bonds issued by the Government for the purchase of the road.

Complaints are again made of the disgraceful delays on the Petropolis Railway in the carrying of freight.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The two holidays' decree took the public by surprise yesterday morning. The extent to which it was availed of in business and trading circles shows how acceptable it was all round to be relieved from the Saturday visits of "los Ingleses." Nearly all the offices in town were deserted, and the clerks joyfully scuttled off to devise plans of amusement till Monday morning. Editors and policemen were, however, tied to their daily-bread wheel as usual.

There was plenty of excitement in town last night, and the Fire Brigade was kept extremely busy. At a little after nine, it was said that no fewer than four fires were raging ; the people were rushing to and fro through the streets, but little definite could be ascertained. The principal conflagration was at the Panorama at the corner of Belgrano and Lima, which was totally destroyed, the fragile materials with which it was constructed and the inflammable nature of the large canvas, assisted by the enormous current of air within the building, rendering it a facile victim to the devouring element. Many have enjoyed the battle of Plevna depicted on the canvas, but few could have imagined that the last dying moments of the Panorama would be a far grander spectacle. Almost as soon as the fire first broke out, the Plaza Monserrat was crowded with a seething, surging crowd, who thoroughly appreciated the magnificence of the sight ; needless to say, the efforts of the "bomberos" were greatly impeded by the mass of spectators, but they at length got to work, but, of course, their efforts were too late ; in any case, nothing could have saved the building. We are happy to be able to say that no casualties are reported ; we have not heard whether the building and picture were insured, but should imagine not, as even in Europe, very few companies care for this class of risk.

The representation of Fra Diavolo at the National Theatre on Thursday was really one of the best we have seen in this city. Annovazzi was excellent in the title role, while the well-known baritone, Polloro, made a highly successful first appearance in this company ; his Beppo was an amusing rogue indeed, and his singing extremely good. There were, of course, weak points in the caste, more especially the representatives of the brigadier and the English couple. The Sta. Roncagli displayed her sympathetic voice to great advantage in the piquante character of Zerlina.

Nothing further was known yesterday about the big forgery of Free Bank notes referred to by an evening contemporary on Thursday, so it is supposed that there must be some mistake in the news.

The heat yesterday was again next door to unbearable. An old subscriber told us confidentially that, in his long residence here, he always found St. Patrick's day one of the hottest of the year ; so ten days' more stewing may be looked for.

The trains on the Northern line run to-day at the same hours as on feast days.

The San Martin Theatre reopens this evening with the Zarzuela Company, as previously announced by us. We hear capital reports as to the capabilities of the Company, and there can be no doubt that a good entertainment will be given.

English readers will very soon have to read American fiction with a "crib," in which it shall be translated, word for word (as nearly as the diverse idiom will permit) into the vulgar tongue still retained in Old England. The compositors began it by mispelling most of our words, so that their own mothers could not possibly know them. But their literary accomplices have gone a step further. They have coined a new tongue in the earth—a tongue whose compounds are as hybrid as Volapuk, and whose vocabulary is as pellucid as that of "the Jabberwocky." One of the rising novelists (Mr Edgar Salters) from whose pen Lippincott's gives with each issue a complete work, has made his mark in this line in the February number. Among his characters there is a young man troubled with akosmism and clenchicism, who is myope and affects cecity, who sits palpitant, and has the strength that brings the strophium to the conqueror. There is also a young woman whose kisses are ambient, and whose lips are emollient ! who is "clairvoyant as a nyctalope" "nimbused with the jonquil of her hair," and who goes to bed under a "coverlet smooth as an anapest surmounted by monogrammed pillows." As a climax of description, this lady was "a very fetching young woman ; her skin was eburnean in its clarity, her eyes of isorine !" This same eloquent author habitually talks of inhibiting for preventing lancinating for painful, obsession for occupation, intussusception for intervention, monocle for eye-glass. He says quasily when he means "as if," detritus when he means débris, interrales when he means valleys, "dark moraine" when he means morass; and throws about words like tangentical, provenance, neurosthenes, etc., when he means—Heavens knows what! All this in a few pages. Is it possible that Americans admire this ignorant and pretentious gibberish ?

In reply to an enquiry as to the whereabouts of the Night School for Adults, we beg to say that it is at 1136 Calle Cangallo. The class hours are from 7 to 9 p.m., and no charge whatever is made.

We have much pleasure in saluting Mr William Slater, representative of the Western and Brazilian Tel

Messrs. Agar Cross & Co.

Dear Sirs,

I have great pleasure in reporting favourably of your "Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine." Up to date we have shorn upwards of 300 Lincoln Rams and Borregas, and find it quite up to our expectations. It is simple and easily handled, and in no way complicated or difficult to understand or work, and so far it has never been out of order. It shears the sheep beautifully it does them quicker and considerably better than it is possible to get them done by hand, and saves the poor animal a great amount of abuse.

I have timed our Amateur Shearer here, and find he can shear upwards of eight in the hour. Consequently, I consider the Wolseley Machine one of the best patents I have yet seen, in proof of which I intend having some more put up at an early date.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM RIDDICK.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London.

Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question wether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. we could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Sapasms, Crampas, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years, in Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of he Pharm. Society of Great Britain.

His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

THE
Pierce Artesian Well Co.
of New York

Has exclusive control of the patents obtained by CHARLES D. PIERCE, by which wells are drilled with a rapidity unattained by any other system.

The Company has recently received from its factory, the celebrated PIERCE IRON WORKS, New York, several powerful steam well drilling machines and a quantity of extra heavy drive pipe specially made for the Plate. No pipe of this quality has ever been imported here before. It will not "telescope" nor break.

These machines are in charge of experienced North American well engineers specially sent by the Co.

Contracts taken for wells from 36 to 1,000 metres depth, for water, or petroleum; water supply for Railways, Factories, Estancias, etc; soundings for minerals, etc.etc.
